TCC Writing Center Mission

Tulsa Community College Writing Centers promote collaboration in all stages of the writing process, striving to create more confident and proficient writers. Our writing consultants help students develop skills and strategies to become more independent, critical thinkers and effective communicators. We assist in areas such as:

- Organizing and developing ideas
- Writing across different genres, disciplines, and media platforms
- Integrating research and citing sources in appropriate formats
- Revising drafts
- Understanding and using appropriate grammar, punctuation, and style

In addition, by partnering with faculty of all disciplines, we work to increase student access to academic support, thereby fostering student achievement and encouraging an open dialogue about successful writing within the college community.
